12. Inspection

Make arrangements with PPECB for regular inspections, to be able to get the fruit under forced air-cooling as soon as possible.

Offer the fruit for export inspection to PPECB on the day of packing. Fruit must be inspected according to the specific export company's standards, and these may not be lower than minimum standard. See Department of Agriculture standards and guidelines - www.nda.agric.za.

Approved fruit must be in a cold room for forced air-cooling within one hour after inspection. If the fruit was not stored in a high-humidity cool room, then the total time between harvest and the commencement of forced air-cooling should not exceed 6 hours.
